The Principles of Soil Manage-A clear understanding of the properties of the soil essential to produable yields. The soil is a medium for plant growth, and as such,

furnishes water and plant food for he growing crop. Successful farming depends to a large degree upon the proper seil management. To put the farm in a condition to produce profitable yields demands or the part of the op erator a clear anderstanding of the properties of the seil The soil is a medium for plant growth, and as such furnishes water and plant food for the gr wing crop. The moisture hording capacity is all import ant since water is the means by which the plant is fed. Th elements of plant food become dissolved in the soil water which in turn is taken up by the plant L kowise, soit air is essected to the developmen of the plant as the roots must have oxygen. I maintain three very extensive chemical laboratories in which all materials are thoroughly tested. No harmful materials can ever enter into Royster goods. Our home and foreign markets are picked over for the choicest raw materials; then I formulate them in just the proportion which my life-time experience has found to be best for each crop for which the fertilizer is intended. The results of all this care is, naturally, a complete mixture which is really the "last word" in fertilizer. So, you see, I am justified in feeling proud of the Royster Products, which come from our fifteen upto-date plants.

They couldn't be built now for twice $71,000

When the talk turns from politics to railroads, and the traveler with the cocksure air breaks in with, "There's an awful lot of 'water' in the railroads," here are some hard-pan facts

American railroads have cost $80,900 a mile -roadbed, structures, stations, yards, terminals, freight and passenger trains—everything from the great city terminals to the last spike.

A good concrete-and-asphalt highway costs $36,000 a mile-just a bare road, not counting the cost of culverts, bridges, etc.

Our railroads couldn't be duplicated today for $150,000 a mile.

They are capitalized for only $71,000 a milemuch less than their actual value. Seventy-one thousand dollars today will buy one locomotive.

English railways are capitalized at $274,000 a mile: the French at $155,000; German $132,000; even in Canada (still in pioneer development) they are capitalized at $67,000 a mile. The average for all foreign countries is $100,000.

Low capitalization and high operating efficiency have enabled American Railroads to pay the highest wages while charging the lowest
